that disclosing information about the extent to which these advances are backed by collateral or other security indicates better the extent of credit risk. Disclosure of any such additional information is encouraged. In addition, the aggregate of this analysis should reconcile with the relevant figures provided as balance sheet information.

2.4.3 AIs should disclose the breakdown of the gross amount of advances to customers by countries or geographical areas that are considered to be significant<sup>6</sup> to them according to the location of the counterparties. Claims arising between branches and subsidiaries of the AI should be excluded. An illustration of how cross-border claims should be disclosed is at Annex D of FD-1 “Financial Disclosure by Locally Incorporated Authorized Institutions”.

<sup>6</sup> A country or geographical area should generally be reported where it constitutes 10% or more of the relevant disclosure item, e.g. aggregate amount of advances to customers or cross-border claims, after taking into account any risk transfers.

Interim Financial Disclosure by Locally Incorporated Authorized Institutions

v.2 – 08.11.02

2.4.5 In relation to para. 2.4.3 and para. 2.4.4, the basis of the country or geographical classification should be clearly stated, including the fact that transfer of risk has been taken account of. In general, risk transfer should only be made if the claims are guaranteed by a party in a country which is different from that of the counterparty or if the claims are on an overseas branch of a bank whose head office is located in another country.

2.4.6 AIs are encouraged to disclose other types of credit exposure, including those arising from off-balance sheet transactions, according to the location of the counterparty.

2.5 Currency risk

2.5.1 AIs should disclose foreign currency exposures arising from trading, non-trading and structural positions. The position in a particular foreign currency should be reported if the net position (in absolute terms) constitutes 10% or more of the total net position in all foreign currencies. The net options position reported should be calculated using either the “model user” or the “worst case” approach set out in the return “Foreign Currency Position - MA(BS)6” or using the AI’s internal reporting method. The basis of calculation should be clearly stated. The financial information to be disclosed in respect of each such currency should include:

Where an AI is required to compute a consolidated ratio by the HKMA, that ratio should be disclosed. Otherwise, the solo ratio should be disclosed.

2.6.2 For AIs which are required by the HKMA to maintain capital against market risk, an adjusted capital adequacy ratio which takes into account market risk as at the end of the interim financial period, computed in accordance with CA-G-2 "Maintenance of Adequate Capital Against Market Risks", should also be disclosed.

- 2.6.5 The average liquidity ratio for the interim financial period should be disclosed. The average ratio should be the simple average of each calendar month's average ratio, as reported in Part 1(2) of the "Return of Liquidity Position of an Authorized Institution - MA(BS)1E" calculated for the purposes of the Banking Ordinance. Where the basis of computation has been agreed with the HKMA, AIs may choose to include overseas branches and/or subsidiaries in the calculation of the liquidity ratio, rather than Hong Kong offices only.
- 2.6.6 AIs should also disclose any additional information which in their opinions is necessary for a reasonable appreciation of the results for the interim financial period.

3. Other issues

3.1 Comparative figures and transitional arrangements

- 3.1.1 Except the profit and loss information and liquidity ratio under subsections 2.1 and 2.6 respectively, the corresponding amounts for the immediately preceding financial year-end should be given for the disclosures in section 2.
