 - Implement the latest Basel requirement / interpretative guidance (i.e. Technical Amendments and FAQs) (e.g. treatment of certain credit exposures to individuals where the borrower's repayment obligation and his major source of income are in different currencies); and
 - Reflect consequential changes necessary to cater for market developments (e.g. the treatment of any stablecoin issuer subsidiary of a bank further to the implementation of the regulatory regime for stablecoin issuers in Hong Kong).
- Subject to industry consultation, our aim is to submit the BCR amendments (together with any consequential amendments to other rules) to the LegCo in the fourth quarter of 2026, with a view to their taking effect in the first quarter of 2027.

Development of Phase 2B is in good progress. The HKMA will continue to consult with a broad range of stakeholders in order to facilitate the region's transition to a low carbon economy.
- Following the launch of the Roadmap on Sustainability Disclosure in Hong Kong by the Government in December 2024, the HKMA has been working towards aligning the local sustainability disclosure requirements for the banking sector with international frameworks and standards, including the International Financial Reporting Standards – Sustainability Disclosure Standards (i.e. ISSB Standards) and the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision's disclosure framework for climate-related financial risks. The HKMA has been undertaking industry engagement to analyse the sustainability disclosure landscape, understand key challenges and identify sound practices of the industry, to inform the policy formulation process.
- The HKMA completed the first industry consultation on a set of draft transition planning guidelines in 2025 and launched a second round of industry consultation, which ended in February 2026. Digital assets and stablecoins

- The Stablecoins Ordinance, which provides a licensing regime for fiat-referenced stablecoins issuers in Hong Kong, came into effect on 1 August 2025. The regime further enhances Hong Kong's regulatory framework for digital assets, thereby fostering financial stability and encouraging financial innovation
- The HKMA has completed processing the first batch of licence applications and granted two licences
- Before their formal business launch, licensees are required to finalise operational arrangements such as system testing, implementation of risk management measures, and manpower deployment. We will actively follow up on the progress to ensure that licensees commence businesses in compliance with the rules and in an orderly manner

Global financial markets experienced significant volatility in Q1 2026

- Interest rates: US Fed kept its policy rate unchanged during the quarter. Government bond yields in major markets rose in March. 10-year US Treasury yield increased to around 4.3% by quarter-end, while 10-year government bond yields in UK and Japan climbed to multi-year highs
- Equity markets: Global equity markets generally softened in March. S&P 500 Index declined by 4.6% for the quarter. Equity markets in the Chinese Mainland and Hong Kong also recorded declines amid external uncertainties
- Exchange rates: US dollar exchange rate was volatile during the quarter. Supported by safe-haven demand in March, the US Dollar Index rose by over 2% during the month. The renminbi, on the other hand, appreciated against US dollar
