Time Management Classroom

VO: 9 out of 10 Hongkongers do not have enough time
 Not enough time to eat
 Not enough time to sleep
 Not enough time to date
 Why complain? All of us have 24 hours a day
 You don't have enough time
 It's because you're not managing time well
 Today I will be showing you all
 How to have better time management

Super: Time Management Classroom

Scene FAST

Super: Time Management Skill #1: FAST
 No chatty, be simple and concise.

VO: Time Management Skill #1: FAST
 No chatty, be simple and concise.
 For example, speaking of a meal
 We are usually like this

Michael Ning: Peter, I've got a meeting in half an hour

Yeung Wai Lun: What should we eat?

Michael Ning: My throat's a bit sore today

Yeung Wai Lun: Last night (had Thai food?) (Sa-Wa-Di-Cup)

Michael Ning: Fried rice, papaya salad, oyster omelette..... (In thai)

Yeung Wai Lun: Oyster omelette?

VO: So much talk, but with a meeting to attend soon
Already took 15 minutes to discuss what to eat
That's why you need to be "FAST"
Remove unnecessary conversation

Michael Ning: Quick? (Have a quick lunch?)

Yeung Wai Lun: What? (do you want to eat?)

Super: Gestures can be added to avoid misunderstanding

VO: Gestures can be added to avoid misunderstanding

Michael Ning: Pain (my throat)

Yeung Wai Lun: Last night (had Thai food?) (Sa-Wa-Di-Cup)

Michael Ning: Desu Ka? (How about Japanese?)

Yeung Wai Lun: Go (ready to go)!

VO: Just like that, you speak faster for each 60 seconds
You can save 1 minute

Scene PASS

VO: If you want to finish something quickly
Skill #2: "PASS"

Super: Time Management Skill #2: PASS
Whether a task is easy or hard to do, pass it to someone else

VO: Whether a task is easy or hard to do, pass it to someone else

Michael Ning: Peter, are you free to photocopy these for me?

Yeung Wai Lun: Are you crazy? Why should I help you?

VO: Asking whether someone can help you

Gives them an option to refuse
To effectively get people to help you
You shouldn't ask, but praise!

Michael Ning: Peter, your photocopies are so good!
How... how come you are so talented?

Yeung Wai Lun: Oh really? That's exaggerating!

Michael Ning: No! I mean it!
Look, every copy has good ink distribution and clean lines
If only my photocopies were as great as yours

Super: Find a partner to reinforce the compliment

VO: You can even find a partner to reinforce the compliment

Michael Ning: May
Take a look. Aren't Peter's photocopies amazing?

May: Oh my god, I've never seen anybody's photocopies
That are so bright and clear!
Each page is like a handwritten copy
Full of warmth and passion!

Yeung Wai Lun: Okay, bring them here

VO: As soon as you praise him enough
No matter hard or easy tasks
You can "PASS" them all to others

Scene SAVE

VO: Teach you one more skill: "SAVE"

Super: Time Management Skill #3: SAVE
Two tasks at once to save time.

VO: Two tasks at once to save time. Why not both?

Michael Ning: I've got to go and watch the match, let's talk later

Florica Lin: If you don't want to talk, then let's never meet again!

VO: Foolish! Why do you have to do these two separately
With some skill, you can do both things at the same time
First, set up some pretense to avoid leaving a trail
Placing the camera in line with the television
Turn on the lights to avoid any reflective glare on glasses

Florica Lin: How about you? What are you doing?

Michael Ning: I just brewed tea and am getting ready to FaceTime with you
"honey"

VO: Watching the match will make you emotional
Do not try to cover
Rather, be proactive and make up a reason

Michael Ning: Yeah! I see you finally

Florica Lin: Haha, you're so sweet!

VO: Do the same with negative emotions

Michael Ning: I feel sad because we have to hang up soon

Florica Lin: Alright! Let's not hang up tonight

VO: In this way, both things are done simultaneously
Save time no difficulty
Let's recap the three skills of time management
